Detailed directions from Cognac

Le Moulin de Chazotte is about 7 km north of Cognac on the Matha/St. Jean d'Angely road.

Take the D731 north from Cognac and after about 5km you will enter Cherves-Richemont. At the roundabout just after the sign, turn right towards Cherves and Matha.

From here you enter Cherves-Richemont and you will pass a small supermarket, pharmacy and tabac on your right followed by a boules arena on your left under the trees with a bar and restaurant behind.

Turn left 50 metres after the boules arena and follow the signs for Château Chesnel.

Proceed towards Chateau Chesnel and you will come to the village green with the Mairie on your right. The road bears off to the right at the green but you need to keep straight on with the war memorial on your right. After the village green you leave Cherves and pass a new modern house on your left and vines on either side of the road. You will enter La Garnerie as you proceed up a rise. The road swings left immediately after the 3 modern bungalows but you need to go straight on (slightly right) by the Distillerie de la Salle and heading towards Chateau Chesnel. You will bounce over a two speed humps before coming to the entrance to Château Chesnel itself – don't go into the Chateau but follow the road to the right, immediately before the entrance. Drop down a steep hill with a lake on your right and if you look ahead you will see the moulin (the white blob!) about 2km away amongst the vines. Follow the winding road through the vines for 1.5km then bear left at a Y junction, over a small hill and the driveway with cream-coloured gateposts comes up on the left. One of the gateposts has the house name-plate and a Gites de France sign on it.
